

MERCHANT LEFT HIS DAUGHTER OUT OF BIG ESTATE

Henry Batterman's Will Fails to Mention Name of Mrs.
Adelaide Nichols.

The will of the late Henry Batterman, millionaire merchant and banker of Williamsburg, died for probate in the Surrogate's Court, Brooklyn, to-day, not only makes no mention of his sole surviving daughter, Mrs. Adelaide B. Nichols, but takes extraordinary precautions to exclude her from any control of the estate. The chief legatees are the widow and son, Henry Lewis Batterman.

Mr. Batterman died on Jan. 19 last at the age of sixty-four. The will was made Oct. 2, 1910, and is witnessed by Clinton D. Burdick and Martin Joost of Brooklyn. It, L. Batterman is made executor and trustee, or, in case of his death, the Brooklyn Trust Company.

Mr. Batterman's attorney, Henry A. Ingraham, of No. 16 Court street, refused to discuss Mrs. Nichols' exclusion, or to comment on the fact that in strange contrast Mr. Batterman in 1898 gave the Brooklyn and East Brooklyn Dispensary $25,000 in memory of his other daughter, Laura S. Francis.

The will leaves $25,000 to the five children of a dead brother, John S. Batterman Jr., and $15,000 to the three daughters of another brother, William Batterman. Brooklyn charities and institutions of which Mr. Batterman was a director or was much interested in are remembered liberally. The art collection fund of the Institute of Arts and Sciences is left $30,000, and the Bushwick and East Brooklyn Dispensary $25,000. Five thousand dollars each is left to the Home for Consumptives, the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, the German Hospital Society and the Brooklyn Hospital, and $2,500 each to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, the Children's Aid Society, the Society for the Aid of Friendless Women and Children, the Training School and Home for Young Girls, the Home for Hebrew Orphan Asylum, the Home for the Aged of the Little Sisters of the Poor, the German Evangelical Association Home for the Aged, the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church Home.

Contingent clauses further exclude Mrs. Nichols. If the son should die before the father, the son's share is to go to his children; if the wife died first her share is to go to the son's children, or, if none, to the Orphan Asylum Society of Brooklyn for a Batterman building. Provision is also made that if both the son and wife die before Mr. Batterman, the whole residuary estate should be divided between the Brooklyn Hospital and the Orphan Asylum Association.

Mrs. Nichols lives at No. 49 Clinton avenue, next door to the son. The two houses were given to the children years ago. Mrs. Batterman lives at the Hotel Bossert.

WHITE SLAVER SENTENCED TO PRISON FOR SIX YEARS.

Last of Dealers Arrested in Rockefeller Campaign Quickly Convicted on Girl's Story.

Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions today disposed of the last of the white slave dealers arrested as a result of the active work of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in aiding the authorities to stamp out the traffic in this city. Aracangelo Piro-moli, an importer of olive oil of No. 18 Chrystie street, who was convicted a week ago, was sentenced to Sing Sing prison for six years and six months.

4,000 Yards—40 Shades of the Well Known SHAH Pongee Silk Formerly $1—Wednesday at 38c a Yard

This might be called the opening gun in our 1912 Silk Campaign in the Subway Store, and as "Well begun is half done" we consider ourselves exceedingly fortunate in beginning the season with this splendid offering.

SHAH Pongee Silks are well known to nearly every woman, through extensive magazine and other advertising, and better still, to the thousands of satisfied wearers. We secured these 4,000 yards, the entire available stock of the York Silk Company, the manufacturers, at away below their lowest mill price. Why the makers made so great a sacrifice is not essential, you will know their reason was a good and sufficient one.

Now, our principal concern is to get as wide distribution as possible, for we believe the demand will be exceedingly heavy, as the lowest price we know of in a sale event was 75c; our price now 38c a yard.
